Bertolt Brecht Karl-Heinz Schoeps 1978 As part of Pegasos, Kuunsankosken Kaupunginkirjasto of Finland presents a biographical sketch of the German playwright and poet Bertolt Brecht (1898-1956), whose name originally was Eugen Berthold Friedrich. Brecht created a type of drama called epic theatre. Some of Brecht's works include "Baal" (1918), "Das Elefantenkalb" (1927), "Happy End" (1929), and "Die Gewehre de Frau Carrar" (1937). A selected bibliography of Brecht's works is offered.

The Star Beast Robert A. Heinlein 1977 "Lummox had been the Stuart family pet for years. Though far from cuddly and rather large, it had always been obedient and docile. Except, that is, for the time it had eaten the secondhand Buick ... But now, all of a sudden and without explanation, Lummox had begun chomping down on a variety of things--not least, a very mean dog and a cage of virtually indestructible steel. Incredible!"--Back cover.

Partial Differential Equations Todor V. Gramchev 2000-02-22 The applications of methods from microlocal analysis for PDE have been a fast developing area during the last years. The authors, both are well known in the community, publish for the first time some of their research results in a summarized form. The essential point of the approach is the use of the various types of approximate (asymptotic) solutions in the study of differential equations in the smooth and the Gevrey spaces. In this volume, the authors deal with the following themes: Microlocal properties of pseudodifferential operators with multiple characteristics of involutive type in the framework of the Sobolev spaces; Abstract schemes for constructing approximate solutions to linear partial differential equations with characteristics of constant multiplicity  $m$  greater than or equal 2 in the framework of Gevrey spaces; Local solvability, hypoellipticity and singular solutions in Gevrey spaces; Global Gevrey solvability on the torus for linear partial differential equations; Applications of asymptotic methods for local (non)solvability for quasihomogeneous operators; Applications of Airy asymptotic solutions to degenerate oblique derivative problems for second order strictly hyperbolic equations; Approximate Gevrey normal forms of analytic involutions and analytic glancing hypersurfaces with applications for effective stability estimates for billiard ball maps.

Diocletian and the Tetrarchy Roger Rees

2004 This book aims to make accessible the sources and controversies concerning a key period in the history of the Roman Empire - the reign of Diocletian and its immediate aftermath. Diocletian was an emperor of unusual ambition, and his reign saw considerable military success, an experiment in collegiate government, a move towards provincial capitals away from Rome, a reorganisation of the administrative machinery of empire and its finances, and a committed project to persecute the Christians. In Part I, an introduction to Diocletian and the world of the late third century is followed by six thematic chapters covering a range of aspects of government and society under this emperor, including military, economic, religious and administrative affairs. These chapters discuss the original sources, highlight their strengths and weaknesses, and consider the main scholarly approaches to them. Throughout Part I there are regular cross references to the source material which is presented in Part II - this includes literary, archaeological, artistic, legal, and documentary evidence, as well as coins and inscriptions. All texts are in English, and there is a guide to further reading, a full bibliography, some questions for consideration, a glossary of technical terms, and a brief list of relevant online resources.

World War II and the Scramble for Labour in Colonial Zimbabwe, 1939-1948 David Johnson

2000 World War II has long been acknowledged as a watershed in modern history of Africa, yet there are few books that examine the years of the war in a particular African country. This book helps to fill this gap by analysing the wartime mobilisation of settlers, soldiers and labourers in colonial Zimbabwe. It examines the sacrifices demanded of ten of thousands of Africans who were coerced into settler production as their contribution to the British war effort. Africans did not remain passive in the face of this onslaught, and the book also addresses their efforts to make their own history, especially on relation to the post-war rebellions of 1945 and 1948.

The Via Latina Catacomb William Tronzo 1986

During the building of an apartment house on the Via Latina in Rome in 1955 a small Christian catacomb was brought to light, a chance archaeological discovery that turned out to be a startling revelation. The architectural form and painted decoration of the catacomb were much remarked--not only were they exceptionally lavish, they also proved exceedingly difficult to fit into the traditional picture of the development of Christian art in late antique Rome. The Via Latina Catacomb: Imitation and Discontinuity in Fourth-Century Roman Painting is the first in-depth study of the monument in terms of its structure and function. A single question that arises from the monument itself serves to focus the discussion: Why was the last chamber in the catacomb made as a copy of one of the first? But the question is also one that demands a comprehensive approach. Thus the catacomb is examined with regard to its construction, plan, and architectural form, as well as its style of painting and imagery.

Sky Blaise Cendrars 1992 "In France, Blaise Cendrars (1887-1961), a friend of Chagall, Leger, Picasso, Braque, Picabia, and Modigliani, has emerged as one of the great figures of modernism. Together with Apollinaire, he brought cubism to French poetry. Anais Nin hailed him as "one of France's best writers," and the Village Voice called him "the Indiana Jones of French literature." "Translated into English for the first time, Sky, the last of Cendrars's four autobiographical volumes, weaves together a dazzling collage of prose poetry, travel writing, reportage, detective story, and personal memoir. "His life itself reads like the Arabian Nights Entertainment," writes Henry Miller. In Sky Cendrars recounts his adventures in Russia during the revolution of 1905, in the trenches of World War I (where he lost his right arm), in Brazil in the 1920s, and behind the lines during World War II. The two wars run throughout as a unifying thread." "As the title announces, this is a memoir of the sky - of Cendrars's love of birds, levitation, and aviation. The opening of the book finds Cendrars, the great adventurer and traveler, sailing back from Brazil to Paris with 250 multi-colored birds, hoping to bring at least one of them alive to a child he loves. The second part moves back and forth between the author's recollections of life as a war correspondent in 1940 and an encyclopedic discourse on levitation he wrote in search of a patron saint of aviation (perhaps as compensation for the death of his young son, Remy, who was a pilot during the war)." "With unmatched exuberance, Cendrars writes on poetry, myths, existentialism, his life in Paris between the wars with the painter Delaunay and the Dadaists, and his exotic adventures in Brazil. His anecdotes of Russia, where he was a jeweler's assistant, are compelling and funny. His fiercely imaginative stories, such as one about a Brazilian coffee plantation owner who, obsessed with his love for Sarah Bernhardt, retreats into the wilderness, are magical. Descriptions of birds, stars, and countryside are sheer poetry. For good reason, Henry Miller writes how Cendrars has knocked me cold."--BOOK JACKET.Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. All Rights Reserved

The Effects of Low Dose Radiation Elena Burlakova 2004-08-31 The papers collected in this book show the results of investigations performed by Russian scientists in the field of low dose irradiation action. It is confirmed that low doses do have effects on the human organism and the environment and that the most serious consequences are observed in the far post-irradiation period. This branch of radiobiology, which developed after the Chernobyl accident and studied its consequences, is discussed in detail. The main part of reviews and articles is devoted to the aspects of low dose effects on the human and animal genome and far post-irradiation consequences. New details of mechanisms of low dose action are shown and methods of their determination are discussed. Furthermore, the adaptive response of organisms and the low dose effects on the immune system are demonstrated. Also, the difference between protection mechanisms against low dose irradiation and against high dose irradiation is shown and proved.

Grüne Sonnen: Poetik und Politik der Fantasy am Medium Videospiele Daniel Illger 2020-07-20 Die

vorliegende Studie versucht, eine neue Perspektive auf das Genre Fantasy zu entwickeln und zugleich zu ergründen, inwieweit es eine spezifische Affinität zwischen der Fantasy und dem Medium Videospiele gibt. In Auseinandersetzung mit gängigen Zuschreibungen an das Genre – es sei politisch reaktionär und ästhetisch stumpfsinnig – wird eine transmediale Poetik der Fantasy entwickelt, die zugleich eine politische Einschätzung des Genres erlaubt. Die Fantasy zielt darauf, so die These, das Gefühl einer "Sehnsucht nach dem ganz Anderen" zu gestalten, worin immer auch eine Herausforderung an die Historizität eines gegebenen Gemeinwesens beschlossen ist. Das Medium Videospiele wiederum erlaubt es, dieses ästhetische Gefühl in besonderer Weise zu erfahren, legt es die Auffaltung seiner fantastischen Welten doch buchstäblich in die Hände der Spielerinnen und Spieler. Was das konkret bedeutet, wird in poetologischen Analysen von künstlerisch herausragenden Spielen wie Dark Souls, Skyrim oder Hellblade greifbar. Darin erschließt die Studie der wissenschaftlichen Auseinandersetzung mit dem Videospiele neue Möglichkeiten, stellt ein genuin ästhetisches Denken mit den audiovisuellen Bildern einzelner Spiele doch ein Desiderat der Game Studies dar.

The Matter of the North Torfi H. Tulinius 2002 This study evaluates the role of legendary sagas in the lives of Icelanders from the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. It looks at the legendary sagas from the perspective of fictional prose narrative, and sheds light on the origin and nature of other genres that arose in Iceland, especially the Icelandic family saga Islendingasaga. The author wishes to point out the richness and complexity of these long-neglected sagas. Even though they were probably composed for amusement and recreation, they deserve to be taken seriously as works of the intellect.

Shades of Sexuality Amanda Leamon 1997
Shades of Sexuality: Colors and Sexual Identity in the Novels of Blaise Cendrars, by Amanda Leamon, is currently one of the few studies on the modernist poet and novelist Blaise Cendrars to be written in English. Of interest to scholars of Cendrars, Modernism, Twentieth Century French Literature and early Twentieth Century Art and Humanities, Shades of Sexuality is unique among the growing body of criticism and analysis of Cendrars' fiction in that it explores the ways in which Cendrars makes use of the spectrum of fragmented colors and other elements of disguise and trompe-l'oeil, both as an artistic device in the construction of the fictional text, and as a recurrent motif in the representation and exploration of the male subject and his relation to woman. The author demonstrates how Cendrars effects intersections of gender in the text through the manipulation of colors and their associations with femininity, ultimately undermining the illusory façade of male autonomy which dominates his fictional corpus.

Neuropsychotherapie Klaus Grawe 2004-09
Was wissen wir heute über die neuronalen Strukturen und Prozesse, die normalem und gestörtem Erleben und Verhalten zu Grunde liegen? Was wissen wir über die neuronalen Grundlagen psychischer Störungen? Wie kommt es dazu, dass das Gehirn überhaupt psychische Störungen hervorbringt? Wie kann man mit psychologischen Mitteln neuronale Strukturen verändern? Was sind die neuronalen Mechanismen therapeutischer Veränderungen? Welche Schlussfolgerungen ergeben sich für die Praxis der Psychotherapie, wenn man ihre Problemstellungen und den therapeutischen Veränderungsprozess aus einer neurowissenschaftlichen Perspektive betrachtet?

Die letzten 15 Jahre haben einen umwälzenden Erkenntnisprozess über die neuronalen Grundlagen unseres Erlebens und Verhaltens eingeleitet. Das Buch vermittelt die für die Psychotherapie relevanten Erkenntnisse der Neurowissenschaften. Es werden konkrete Leitlinien für eine neurowissenschaftlich informierte Therapiepraxis formuliert. Es wird gezeigt, dass man psychische Störungen nicht vom motivierten psychischen Geschehen trennen kann. Psychische Störungen sind Reaktionen auf schwerwiegende Verletzungen der menschlichen Grundbedürfnisse. Ihre neuronalen Grundlagen reichen über die Störung selbst hinaus und müssen mitbehandelt werden, um ein möglichst gutes Therapieergebnis zu erzielen. Daraus ergibt sich ein neues Bild von den Aufgabenstellungen und Möglichkeiten der Psychotherapie. Das Buch vermittelt Therapeuten, Studierenden, Lehrenden und Forschenden auf den Gebieten der Klinischen Psychologie, Psychotherapie und Psychiatrie das erforderliche Know-how für eine professionelle, neurowissenschaftlich fundierte Therapiepraxis.

Pagan City and Christian Capital John R. Curran 2000
The critical century between the arrival of Constantine and the advance of Alaric in the early fifth century witnessed dramatic changes in the city of Rome. In this book Dr. Curran has broken away from the usual notions of religious conflict between Christians and pagans, to focus on a number of approaches to the Christianization of Rome. He surveys the laws and political considerations which governed the building policy of Constantine and his successors, the effect of papal building and commemorative constructions on Roman topography, the continuing ambivalence of the Roman festival calendar, and the conflict between Christians over asceticism and "real" Christianity. Thus using analytical, literary, and legal evidence Dr Curran explains the way in which the landscape, civic life, and moral values of Rome were transformed by complex and sometimes paradoxical forces, laying the foundation for the capital of medieval Christendom. Through a study of Rome as a city Dr Curran explores the rise of Christianity and the decline of paganism in the later Roman empire.

What is a Man? Natalie Kampen 2002
What Is a Man? enriches our understanding of the paradigm shift produced by feminist theory, that gender is constructed, not "natural," and is political. Indeed, Kampen's essay explores new ground, for as she points out, "few scholars until very recently have written about the way that gender as a category illuminates our understanding of manhood, and fewer still are the archaeologists and art historians who have studied masculinity in late antiquity."
